

Jeffrey Seppala, bass-baritone

University of Texas Rio Grande Valley
Department of Music, Eidman Hall, Room 112
One West University Blvd.,
Brownsville, TX 78520
562-686-5342
jeffrey.seppala@utrgv.edu

Employment

Lecturer of Voice, University of Texas Rio Grande Valley present

- Teaching responsibilities: Applied Voice, Music Appreciation, Vocal Methods, Assistant Director of Opera Scenes
- Courses Taught:
 - Applied Voice
 - Vocal Methods
 - Music Appreciation
 - Opera Workshop

Education

University of Colorado at Boulder: Doctor of Musical Arts, 2015
Voice Performance and Pedagogy

University of North Carolina School of the Arts:
Fletcher Opera Institute Master of Music, 2007
Voice Performance

Biola University Conservatory of Music: Bachelor of Music, 2004
Voice Performance

Additional Training

David Jones Teacher Training Seminars Singer and Teacher Apprenticeship, 2010-2015

Central City Opera Apprenticeship Artist, 2010

Opera Colorado Young Artist, 2009-2011

Tri-Cities Opera Resident Artist Training Program, 2007-2008

Teaching Experience

Applied Voice Instructor, University of Colorado at Boulder 2011-2014

- Weekly private voice lessons for bachelor of music, musical theatre, and arts voice majors.

Vocal Pedagogy Instructor, University of Colorado at Boulder 2014

- Voice Performance and Music Education in voice majors
- Comprehensive anatomy instruction
- Facilitated voice lesson methodologies
- Discussion of appropriate solo and choral repertoire