WHAT CAN I DO WITH A DEGREE IN MULTIDISCIPLINARY STUDIES?

“These minors combined allowed me to develop a realistic perspective of how to successfully run a business, advertise it, and communicate effectively in many different settings.” – Brittany Bush.

Definition
The Multidisciplinary Studies degree program allows students to custom design a plan of study that brings together course work from three disciplines rather than the two disciplines reflected by the traditional major/minor format. Just like the Interdisciplinary Studies degree, the Multidisciplinary Studies degree is a good option for students who would like to become elementary teachers. However, students can choose a combination of other non-educational disciplines, such as Business/Marketing/Finance. UTRGV offers a Bachelor of Multidisciplinary Studies where the student can choose three approved minors of at least 18 hours each as the major requirements.

Acquired Skills
The skills students acquire when majoring in Multidisciplinary Studies depend on the areas of studies they choose. Anyway, disregarding of what they choose to study, they will adapt to changing environments, acquire versatility, and be able to work under pressure. They will also acquire several abilities and skills, some of them are: analytical, problem-solving, personal management, oral and written communication, self-confidence, and more.

Potential Employers & Related Careers
Due to the fact that the Multidisciplinary Studies degree prepare students for careers in varied fields, the related careers will depend on the students’ selected areas of studies.

Resources
- Learn.org: Multidisciplinary Studies Salary and Career Facts
  www.learn.org/articles/Multidisciplinary_Studies_Jobs_Career_and_Salary_FAQs.html
- College Crunch – www.collegecrunch.org/degrees/arts-humanities/bachelor/multidisciplinary-studies-bachelors-degree