

UTRGV Receives Carnegie Recognition

This year, UTRGV was nationally recognized with the Carnegie Foundation Elective Community Engagement Classification. This is the first time UTRGV has earned this recognition for their effort to engage with community partners and their commitment to addressing community challenges. This classification is not an award, but an elective evidence-based documentation of institutional practice that honors institutions who are committed to community engagement. In honor of becoming one of just 119 colleges and universities in the U.S. to receive the Carnegie Community Engagement Classification for 2020, the UTRGV Office of Community Engagement hosted a reception to honor the faculty, staff, and community partners who made it possible.

The University of Texas
Rio Grande Valley
Community Engagement

