YWAM SHIPS

YOUR focus could be reaching the more than 700 isolated islands in the Pacific that do not have airports, those so remote it can take weeks to reach them across the vast liquid continent. The Big Island of Hawaii is an ideal location as it is close to many of the places you would serve. You would also be just one mile from the University of the Nations Kona campus, our "twin" in ministry. Collaborating very closely with the UoN campus as you do life together on this island.

UNIVERSITY OF THE NATIONS

University of the Nations (UoN) Kona campus is part of the network of campuses worldwide that train and send out missionaries with YWAM whose mission is "to know God and make Him known". This particular campus was established to "be a lighthouse to the Pacific and a stepping stone to Asia".

YWAM Ships Kona is part of a movement of international volunteers who seek to serve the most difficult-to-access islands in the Pacific and Central America Youth With A Mission (YWAM) has been using ships as a mobile outreach platform since 1976.

We have the capacity to overcome isolation and lack of access through the use of ships, allowing local health workers and other volunteer personnel transport to many communities, which currently struggle to receive basic services. Both ship-based and land-based (further inland) activities occur. With our ships we bring medical aid with our doctors, dentists and ophthalmologists onboard. We provide primary health care, health promotion and preventative medicine, oral health, as well as correcting reversible vision loss and cataract blindness.

Our drive is to be the hands and feet of Jesus. The medical focus of the ship gives us the opportunity to speak into the lives of those we serve. Through this we provide translations of the Bible in their spoken language, discipleship, and also educational up-skilling activities like tin water catchment and clean water technology training.

READY FOR AN ADVENTURE?

FLEET
We currently operate two vessels - one serving Papua New Guinea and one based in Kona, serving Micronesia. We are a part of a growing network of more than two dozen vessels in the YWAM worldwide fleet. We also have partnerSHIPS (independently owned and operated vessels) in the Marshall Islands and in Panama.

TRAINING
Training on the job is a key part of our strategy with courses offered from the University of the Nations. We take committed volunteers on a quarterly intake and train them as long-term staff and crew offering courses in navigation, primary health care, midwifery, Bible, communications, and leadership development. We also offer Associate of Arts, Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees. Whenever possible we take every advantage to train teachers in the field so the capacity building continues long after we have sailed away.

VOLUNTEERS
Each volunteer covers his or her own travel, living expenses and gives of their time freely to make this international effort possible. Our staff raise their own financial support partnering with individual donors and churches.

TRAINING & LOGISTICS
We have two land-based facilities that provide training, logistical and fleet support for our fleet. Our main center is in Kona, Hawaii and the other is in the jungles of northern Panama. There is also a procurement and provisioning team in Orange County, CA, USA, where we warehouse supplies and ship containers out to enable our vessels to continue on deployment.
