

Best Practices for success in classes

- You should have a reliable computer and internet to be a successful online student.
- Complete Blackboard tutorial to familiarize with it on the first day.
- Attend any orientations organized for Online students and general orientations.
- Get the textbook(s) and other resources for your classes you need in advance.
- Plan your study hours and homework timeslots in your day.
- Review thoroughly the syllabus and class schedule and due dates of assignments.
- Plan to review the study materials posted or textbook chapters within 2 days of each week so that you can get enough time to work on the weekly discussions, quizzes, assignments and major projects.
